Disguised As a Man.

An arrest on suspicion on account of a disorderly house robbery in Atlanta, Ga., on Saturday has brought out a strange story of a young woman's adventures while masquerading in male attire. Her name is Carrie Davis, and she belongs in Columbus, Ohio. She is 19 years old and pretty. She grew tired of home life and on September 19 she started out with $350 in her pocket to see the world. Since that time, in her masculine disguise, she has won the hearts of no less than four young women, and has promised to marry each of them. She visited New York last and arrived in Atlanta on Sept. 23, spending her first night at the Grant House. Going out next day she found a young lady whom she had known in the west, and then went down to Mrs. Wright's where she secured lodging under the name of Clarence Davis.

She said that she had known the young lady, and had worked with her in a millinery store in Columbus eight years ago, and had formed quite an attachment for her. From there begins a strange romance. On Sept. 24, Miss Maggie Pradergast secured lodging at Mrs. Wright's saying that Clarence was a cousin of hers, and that they had known each other for a long while. She stated that she came from New York. In a few days the young lady stated that she and Clarence were engaged to be married, but that Mrs. Davis objected to the match, and that was why they came south. She claimed that they were to be married in a few weeks.

A week or so ago the young lady went to Mrs. Wright and told her that she would have to change her boarding place, not because of anything wrong, but because of a falling out between herself and Mr. Davis. She went away, and that ended her connection with the affair for the time.

"Miss" Davis appeared to assume the role of a masquerade very naturally, and was very polite to the ladies. Large bouquets of costly flowers sent to him were of every day occurrence, and a few days ago he went to Mrs. Wright and asked her to reserve two front rooms for his use, that he was going to marry a young lady who lived at the Kimball House in two weeks.

After his arrest a large bouquet was sent to him with a card marked "From Lillie." This proved to be his latest fiancée. Her name is Miss Florence Lillian Adams. When she was brought to the station house she told the whole story.

Clarence had made love to her a couple of weeks ago, when he and some young men companions called at her home. Clarence ordered a bottle of wine, and over it the two became very sweet. An engagement resulted, and Clarence claimed that he was going to marry her and they would go to Washington, where he would secure a good position.

"Mr." Davis claimed also to have been engaged to a young lady in Evansville, Ind., making the fourth alleged engagement on his hands. "Mr." Davis's first love was seen Monday afternoon, and she told a very straight forward story, saying that she had worked with Miss Carrie Davis in a store in Columbus six or eight years ago, and that they became quite attached to each other. She left and went to New York, and after she arrived there Miss Davis wrote to her, stating that she was a man and intended to wear men's clothes, and that she was coming to New York to see her.

When Miss Davis arrived as "Mr." Davis she had some difficulty in finding her friend, but soon found that she had gone to Atlanta, and she followed her there. She asserted, in perfect good faith, that she was deluded into believing that Miss Davis was a man, and that was why she received her attentions. She appears to be an honest, business like young lady, and innocent of any intention to do wrong.

Miss Davis spent the night up stairs at the station house, and a telegram was received from her mother asking that she return to her home at once and all would be forgiven.

"POISONED!"

Two hundred and thirty-six persons died recently from the effects of poison taken in ice cream and pastries flavored with adulterated flavoring extracts. Do you want to be poisoned? Then be careful whose flavoring extracts you use. To select proper material, foodstuffs requires a thorough knowledge of chemistry, without which one assumes great risk of doing harm. Ask for Stonebraker's Concentrated Flavoring Extracts. They are the world's standard and are used at the best in use by James L. Harbison, Washington, D. C.; Hotel Remmi, Baltimore, Md.; Albemarle Hotel, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Davis House, Richmond, Va.; New York City; Philadelphia, Pa.; Chicago, Ill.; Boston, Mass.; Paris, France, and all first-class merchants, ice cream and pastry manufacturers throughout the world. All flavors 3, 10, 15 and 25 cents a bottle; also sold in pints, quarts, gallons and barrels.
